

• ANNOUNCING NEW EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR •

The SWC is thrilled to announce that Eli Tome will be the new Executive Director (ED). The SWC's board and staff could not be more pleased to welcome Eli to his new position and for him to bring his experience in restoration and community resiliency to help challenges we face here in our watershed. Prior to assuming the ED position at the Council, Eli was working as a watershed restoration projects manager at the SWC. Eli came to the Council after working in Moab, UT where he sought to restore natural functions on the Colorado River. Before his time in the desert, Eli went to the University of Oregon for a masters in Community and Regional Planning, and his passion for communities and healthy environments has led him to the Siuslaw today. Eli looks forward to meeting and speaking with members and can be reached at coordinator@siuslaw.org
